Biznet 9th Anniversary: Positive Changes to Bring Fresh Ideas

“Change is one thing in life that is constant”

That sentence is true and we all realized change is inevitable and constant. Several people think differently of changes and not everybody like changes. But if the change was done to make it better, then it is a positive change that we all have to embrace and support. When there are no changes have been made, it is more likely that people will become too comfortable and starting to lose their creativity. We believe that changes are the driver to keep our brain spinning and producing a lot of fresh ideas.

In Biznet Networks, our team always challenge ourselves with changes. The changes done by the management team was done to make us as a better company and provide a better service to the loyal customers. It is also one of the reason why Biznet Networks is so dynamic and always committed to create innovation. We realized to maintain our customers, we should always come up with fresh ideas in accordance with our vision and mission.

In welcoming the 9th Anniversary of Biznet Networks, there are several changes that we have done to maintain our company's existence. One of the implementation of our positive changes is the new form of our quarterly newsletter. To keep the customer informed with news and interesting informations, we transform our quarterly newsletter into a quarterly Magazine with a new edge called inspire. Flip through the pages and you will see the new look and find more interesting information and articles that is useful for you.

Changes not always happen in big things, there are also positive changes that happen in small things. But never underestimate the small things when it could lead to a bigger things eventually. For example, the positive changes that we done to maintain our corporate image is by exchanging the employees uniform into a more hip and we add more details into it. All of our frontliners, engineer, max3 store team and our sales promotion girl are now wearing a new uniform. This idea is to give a more professional look to all of Biznet team.

We are very determined to improve our service and provide our customer with the best service. With that consideration, we renovate our Customer Care Centre to accomodate more professional Customer Care team. We conceive our customer and put our best interest in their satisfaction. We believe that all the changes that we are doing will simply bring a positive vibe in our surroundings.

So, any positive changes whether in small things and big things is always crucial and could determine the future of your company.

Save bandwidth by Avoiding Attachments Whenever Possible

Maybe it's hard to win an argument about saving bandwidth these days. Still, the next time you're about to send an email with large attachments, think twice!

If the file you're about to attach to your internet email can be found elsewhere on the net, it maybe better to send the address of that location rather than attaching a copy of the file itself. If nothing else, this will save you some time because your system doesn't have to transfer the large attachment. Also, your recipient(s) can decide whether to download the file or not, where as if you had attached it, they may not have any option but to take the time to download it even if they don't want to.

On the other hand, if you're sending intranet email, it maybe better to attach the file. This is because, unlike with internet email, most intranet email does not have to travel too far on slower links. Also, going out to the internet [from your intranet] to get a file usually takes longer than getting it from a local intranet email.

Search and GO!

Don't have the time to go to your favorite search engine to find what you're looking for?

Try typing "GO" followed by what you're looking for in the "Address" (or "Location" in Netscape) input box.

How "Private" is Your E-mail Address??

Would you place your home phone number in a place where millions of people can see it without even turning a page? Well, you maybe exposing your private email address to millions of people every time you send an email, every time you download a file from a FTP site, every time you subscribe to a mailing list or a web page notification, every time you submit electronic forms, ... (and the list goes on).

So what's the downside? One day you might come home and your email box may have more junk mail than your regular mail box. While it's difficult to completely stop your private email address(es) being exposed to strangers, you can certainly try.

One way to handle this problem is to get a secondary email box and use it to send mail to "public" places, while using your primary email address to communicate with your friends and family. If your secondary mailbox starts to receive too much junk mail, you can simply close it or change it's name. Many Internet service providers (ISPs) give you the option to open a second mail box for a one time fee. If your ISP doesn't provide you with this option, ask if they would at least create an alias for your existing mail box.
